- High concentrations of nicotine in e-liquids are dangerous. CDC states 50-60mg can be lethal in an adult weighing 150lbs
- THC (marijuana) oil is easily concealed in these devices, making it easier to knowingly AND unknowingly use THC oil
- Vaping has seen the largest 1 year spike of any kind of substance abuse in young people in the last 44 years
- Kids are more likely to transition over to regular tobacco product then if they had not started vaping
- Propylene glycol is a primary ingredient in e-liquid, which is an antifreeze
- Even if the e-liquid doesn't contain nicotine they still contain chemicals that are linked to cancer, respiratory problems and heart disease
- Many different flavors aimed at younger and younger crowds
